Dear Ms. Bonsall:

I am secretary to Mr. Bascobert, who is assisting Mr. Stewart in the above-referenced matter. On 3/8/04 I forwarded formal papers, an assignment and declaration document, to Mr. Johnston for execution by the inventors.

I understand from Alisa Haggemo today, that formal papers are usually sent to the inventors directly for execution. Due to the upcoming deadline (4/18/04, w/o extension fees) to file the Notice of Missing Parts with the Patent Office, I would appreciate if you can assist me in following up with the inventors to ensure that the documents are executed and returned to us prior to the deadline date. I've attached for your convenience, another copy of the assignment and declaration. Thanking you in advance for your assistance in this matter.

Dear Ms. Balabon --

I spoke to Roger Johnston regarding this matter and he asked me to contact you and ask you to send a separate set of formal papers directly to each inventor at his home addresses since neither of them are currently employed by Eaton. He also asks that rather than have a Notary Public witness their signatures on the Assignments, please set up the Assignments to have them witnessed by two individuals as shown below.

FIRST WITNESS:
_____ Signature
_____ (Print Name)
SECOND WITNESS:
_____ Signature
_____ (Print Name)	_____ Inventor Signature, JOSEPH J. SPRYSHAK
Date: _____

FIRST WITNESS:
_____ Signature
_____ (Print Name)
SECOND WITNESS:
_____ Signature
_____ (Print Name)	_____ Inventor Signature, KEVIN S. JUMP
Date: _____

You should also send a self-addressed pre-paid overnight courier envelope to each inventor. Formal papers should always be handled in this manner for former or retired Eaton employees. We try to make it as simple as possible for them to sign and return the formal papers.

Please feel free to call me if you have any questions. Thanks for your assistance.
